

SouthCoast Recovery Announces Partnership with Triad Detox Creating Cutting Edge Alcoholism and Drug Rehab Treatment

SouthCoast Recovery, a California based alcohol and drug rehab treatment center, has partnered with Triad Detox (Irvine, CA) to create a new treatment protocol that reduces recovery from drug and alcohol addiction by months. The new treatment center is called Synergy Treatment and is the only pairing of the two approaches in the United States.

November 30, 2007 (FPRC) -- DANA POINT, CA – SouthCoast Recovery, a California drug rehab program, has teamed up with Triad Treatment Center (Irvine, CA) to create an exclusive recovery program called SYNERGY, the only one of its kind.

SYNERGY is the only treatment center nationwide to combine a residential treatment program of mind, body and spirit with Triad's cutting-edge technology in detoxification that utilizes Neuro Transmission Restoration (NTR). NTR is a process using naturally occurring amino acids and minerals to intravenously saturate the body with nutrients. This causes the body's cells to shift into repair mode, shortening the physical recovery process to 10-days instead of the weeks, months and even years it can take to repair damage caused by drugs and alcohol.

NTR is not a cure-all but rather a "jump-start" into recovery. Treatment centers traditionally use mild or non-narcotic prescription medication to ease clients through the painful and sometimes severe process of withdrawal. "With traditional detox, it can take weeks for the mind to be clear enough to absorb the information we present," says Dennis Larkin, founder and CEO of SouthCoast Recovery. "By that time, they're halfway through a 30 day drug rehab the program."

Synergy clients will relax in a comfortable, residential home with 24-hour care, nutritious meals, cable and high-speed Internet access while the detox amino acids are delivered. Within two to four days, alertness and clarity returns. "We capture the client's attention at a time when they are able to learn a new way of life and are capable of turning the information into a new way of life in a way never possible before. This is cutting edge drug and alcohol treatment" says Larkin. The treatment team initially comes to the client for one-on-one counseling and group processing until they are able to join the SouthCoast Wellness Center activities.

Synergy offers a multi-discipline approach to recovery from drugs and alcohol, combining the finest in clinical and medical care with the great holistic healing traditions of the East. "We believe that recovering from addiction is a process of transformation in all areas of life," says Larkin. "Synergy is an exciting venture. We're thrilled to be able to offer this exclusive recovery component that adds another layer of support for our clients."

DANA POINT, CA – SouthCoast Recovery, a California drug rehab program, has teamed up with Triad Treatment Center (Irvine, CA) to create an exclusive recovery program called SYNERGY, the only one of its kind on the West Coast.

SYNERGY is one of only three treatment centers nationwide to combine a residential treatment program of mind, body and spirit renewal with Triad's cutting-edge technology in detoxification that utilizes Neuro Transmission Restoration (NTR). NTR is a process using naturally occurring amino acids and minerals to intravenously saturate the body with nutrients. This causes the body's cells to shift into repair mode, shortening the physical recovery process to 10-days instead of the weeks, months and even years it can take to repair damage caused by drugs and alcohol.

NTR is not a cure-all but rather a "jump-start" into recovery. Treatment centers traditionally use mild or non-narcotic prescription medication to ease clients through the painful and sometimes severe process of withdrawal. "With traditional detox, it can take weeks for the mind to be clear enough to absorb the information we present," says Dennis Larkin, founder and CEO of SouthCoast Recovery. "By that time, they're halfway through a 30 day drug rehab the program."

Synergy clients will relax in a comfortable, residential home with 24-hour care, nutritious meals, cable and high-speed Internet access while the detox amino acids are delivered. Within two to four days, alertness and clarity returns. "We capture the client's attention at a time when they are able to learn a new way of life and are capable of turning the information into a new way of life in a way never possible before. This is cutting edge drug and alcohol treatment" says Larkin. The treatment team initially comes to the client for one-on-one counseling and group processing until they are able to join the SouthCoast Wellness Center activities.

Synergy offers a multi-discipline approach to recovery from drugs and alcohol, combining the finest in clinical and medical care with the great holistic healing traditions of the East. "We believe that recovering from addiction is a process of transformation in all areas of life," says Larkin. "Synergy is an exciting venture. We're thrilled to be able to offer this exclusive recovery component that adds another layer of support for our clients."

SouthCoast Recovery provides highly effective yet affordable, state-licensed treatment near the beach in southern California. We treat alcoholism and drug addictions with our on-staff psychologist, family counselors and addiction specialists with individualized care that treats the body, mind and spirit.

For more information, please contact Synergy Treatment Centers at 1-866-847-4506

Contact Information

For more information contact Tom Petersen of SouthCoast Recovery
(<http://www.southcoastrecovery.com>)
866-847-4506

Keywords

california drug rehab
alcoholism
drug addiction

You can read this press release online here